

RIDING IN ARGENTINA

Channel your inner gaucho on a riding safari through Argentina's vast grasslands, staying at family-owned Estancia Los Potreros, an elegant eight-room ranch in the Sierras Chicas, northwest of Cordoba. The itinerary including cattle-driving, polo and swimming in waterfalls, is pick-and-mix depending on age and ability - but who would miss playing football with local children and helping to herd foals into the garden in the evenings? Details Seven nights' full board from £3,275pp, including flights, transfers, daily riding and other activities. Minimum age ten (theultimatetravelcompany.co.uk)

There's a section on family trips - many of us are hoping for big reunions this year and another on active breaks for those who spent 2020 expanding their waistlines instead of their horizons, I can recommend the Estancia Los Potreros ranch near Cordoba in Argentina, featured on page 16. It's a magical place amid dusty-pink pampas grasses, and the owners, Kevin and Louisa, will make you feel like family. You don't have to be a skilled rider either. I'm not and I even mustered a gallop.
